Miller Ingenuity Raises Over $19,000 for Annual Employee Charitable Giving Campaign

Team Vogel vs. Cancer and American Legion Post 9 Veterans Relief Fund to receive money raised by Miller employees.

Winona, MN – As part of Miller Ingenuity's annual Employee Giving/Volunteer Campaign, nominations for charitable organizations were solicited via an all-employee survey, and two organizations, Team Vogel vs. Cancer and the American Legion Post 9 Veterans Relief Fund, were selected by employees as the beneficiaries.

During a recent campaign celebration, it was announced that employees raised and pledged another record-breaking $9,669, with the company matching that amount, for a total of $19,338 to be split among the two organizations.

The employee-driven campaign, now in its ninth year, has raised over $140,000 through employee cash donations, payroll deduction pledges, and the company match for local organizations. The current campaign saw an impressive 86% employee participation rate.

"I am very proud of our employees for pledging another record-breaking donation for this year's charitable giving campaign," said Steve Blue, President and CEO of Miller Ingenuity. "Their dedication to giving back is inspiring, and I'm grateful to lead a team so committed to making a positive impact in our community through countless hours of volunteer work and generous donations. Their compassion and dedication truly make a difference."
